Subject: Important information re: falsely inflating potency & falsifying scientific data.
C8-0000047-LIC Response required.

Dear Licensed Cannabis Laboratory Owner,

This letter is to warn you that all licensed laboratories are required to accurately report testing results for cannabis batches. Falsely inflating potency and falsifying scientific data violate the laws and regulations applicable to your license.

The Department is actively performing on-site inspections and conducting confirmatory testing in its ISO/IEC 17025 accredited laboratory for cannabis and cannabis products that have passed testing. If confirmatory results do not coincide with your testing results, your testing results may be deemed inaccurate. This can cause the label on cannabis goods to be incorrect, thereby requiring relabeling. It may also lead to recall and/or embargo of the cannabis or cannabis products.

Inaccurately reporting results and falsification of data will result in action against your license, up to and including revocation. Please note that the licensee is responsible for actions of employees and other persons acting on their behalf.

Licensed testing laboratory owner, please confirm receipt of this email by COB September 15, 2023.

Kind regards,

Laboratory Services Division
